President's Message

SANTA ROSA QUILT GUILD

November is a time for giving thanks. It is also the time for falling leaves, chilly air and vibrant colors. While you are enjoying the change of seasons take the time to say thank you to someone from our guild that has made a moment special.

I just opened the link to our latest Show and Tell Photos. What a treasure this is for all of us. Sandra Chan Brown, our guild photographer, has been recording the creations of our guild members as well as those of our guest speakers. At the touch of a computer key the quilts are on the screen for viewing. If you haven't found your way to this site now is the time. When you see Sandra and our web mistress Elaine Tucker at our meetings be sure to thank them for recording our quilts and projects.

I am thankful to be associated with so many talented and generous guild friends. Our guild works because we have members dedicated to its success.

I wish you and your families a Happy Thanksgiving.

Program November 15th

Janet Shore Trunk Show

I had the pleasure of visiting Janet Shore in her home this week to get a glimpse of her quilts and some information for her up-and-coming trunk show this November. Upon entering her home I was amazed to see all the stunning quilts on every wall and in every room.

Janet does beautiful work and has been quilting for almost 40 years. Her studies have led her to travel to symposiums and workshops across the United States to study with master teachers. In addition she has traveled to Japan, France and England where she attended the University of London's program in needlework and quilting.

Block: E... by Janet Shore

Her quilts have appeared in numerous publications and exhibitions with the country's leading quilters. Janet has judged and curated quilt shows, and has been interviewed by the news media about quilt shows. She has taught many classes in quilting and wearable art. She is also one of the founding members of East Bay Heritage Quilters, (EBHQ), and served many years on their board of directors.

The Santa Rosa Quilt Guild is very fortunate to have Janet as a member and is extremely pleased she has offered to share her quilts and experiences as our guest Speaker. This is a show you do not want to miss.
